Trip Summary

Poon Hill Trek is the right for those who don't have much time for a longer trek or don't think they are physically ready for tough and longer trekking? Then Poon Hill Trek is the best option for you. Ghorepani Poon Hill trek provides easy get-in for the first day of the tour. On the day of the trekking, you have some long, steep uphill stone steps to Ulleri Village from Hile but after walking about two hours from the beginning, you will enter the biggest rhododendron forest. You may see different colors of rhododendron flowers if you are trekking from March to May. Once you reach Deurali, which is the upper part of Ghorepani, you may observe the stunning and incomparable views of the giant Annapurna. On the second night, we stay at Ghorepani, at an altitude of 2855 meters. Most trekkers rise before dawn and hike up to Poon Hill (3210 m) for an early morning pleasure trek. The spectacular panorama stretches from Dhaulagiri I (8167m), Tukche Peak (6920m), Nilgiri (6940m), Annapurna South (7219m), Annapurna I (8091m), Hiunchuli (6441m), Machhapuchhre (6997m) and the Lamjung Himal and Manaslu to Far East.

The sunrise view from Poon Hill is marvelous and is said to be one of the best viewpoints in Annapurna trekking and easily accessed from Pokhara, reached after days walk, not so tough in terms of difficulty of Poon Hill Trek as a result this trek is very popular for family trekkers. We start our trek from Nayapul, a 42km drive from Pokhara, and the Ghorepani Nayapul trail is a pleasurable walk for the first day; a meaningful exploration of Gurung and Magar culture and tradition and an interaction with the locals are a lifetime and unique experience at Thikhedunga and Sabeth villages. On the second day, we tend to hike up, passing Ulleri village. It may be a bit difficult to hike up that aforementioned 3300 stone steps; however, there are plenty of teashops in every thirty-minute walk so we can stop for rest, take photos, and even stop for drinks.

On the third or fourth day of the Poon Hill trek, counting on your itinerary, we will stay at Ghandruk, which is one of the places of interest in this trek. We walked around the stunning Gurung village, visiting the Gurung culture center and ACAP visitor's center, and enjoyed the breathtaking Annapurna from the gorgeous village of Ghandruk. Not only this, but you will love staying in Pokhara too. Pokhara itself is a blessed town with natural beauty offering the view of the Annapurna Himalayan range even from your hotel rooftop; one can enjoy the reflection of the mountain in Phewa Lake while boating. Hiking to the Peace Temple may be a nice expertise and see the attractive Pokhara and Annapurna target backdrop. Staying on this trek is outstanding and will make your trip just a beautiful and lifetime experience.
