

Overview

Poon Hill Trek is the right for those who don't have much time for longer trek, or don't think if you are physically ready for tough and longer trekking? Then Poon Hill Trek is the best option for you. Ghorepani Poon Hill trek provides easy get in for the first day of the tour. On the day of the trekking, you have some long steep uphill stone steps to Ulleri Village from Hile but after walking about two hours from the beginning you will enter into biggest rhododendron forest. You may see different colors of rhododendron flowers if you are trekking in March to May. Once you reach to Deurali which is upper part of Ghorepani you may observe stunning and incomparable view of giant Annapurna. On the second night we stay at Ghorepani, at altitude of 2855 meters. Most trekkers rise before dawn and hike up to Poon Hill (3210m) for early morning pleasure trek. The spectacular panorama stretches from Dhaulagiri I (8167m), Tukche peak (6920m), Nilgiri (6940m), Annapurna South (7219m), Annapurna I (8091m), Hiunchuli (6441m), Machhapuchhre (6997m) and the Lamjung Himal and Manaslu to Far East.

The sun rise view from Poon Hill is marvelous which is said to be one of the best view point in Annapurna trekking and easily accessed from Pokhara, reached after days walk, not so tough in terms of difficulty of Poon Hill Trek as a result this trek is very popular for family trekkers. We start our trek from Nayapul, 42km drive from Pokhara and the Ghorepani Nayapul trail is pleasurable walk for the first day, meaningful explore of Gurung and Magar culture and tradition and an interaction with the locals are life time and unique experience at Thikhedunga and at Sabeth villages. On the second day we tend to hike up passing Ulleri village that may be a bit difficult hike up that aforementioned to have 3300 stone step however there are plenty of teashops in every thirty minutes walk so we can stop for rest, taking photos and can even stop for drinks.

On third or fourth day of Poon Hill trek counting on your itinerary, we will stay at Ghandruk which is one the place of interest in this trek. We have walk round the stunning Gurung village visiting Gurung culture center, ACAP visitor's center and enjoy the breath taking of Annapurna from gorgeous village of Ghandruk. Not just this, but also you will love staying in Pokhara too. Pokhara itself is blessed town with natural beauty offering the view of Annapurna Himalayan range even from your hotel rooftop; one can enjoy the reflection of mountain in Phewa Lake while boating. Hiking to the Peace temple may be a nice expertise and see the attractive Pokhara and Annapurna target back drop. In over all Staying this trek is outstanding that will make your trip just beautiful and lifetime experience.
